Please reserve your rooms now using the linked passkey below. Room rates begin at $115 per night, and overnight accommodations are available on a first-come-first-served basis.

Booking Website:

<https://book.passkey.com/e/50741464>

The LeadingAge Wisconsin discounted rates apply only if you make your room reservations by April 1, 2024. Reservations made after that date will be subject to availability and will be charged at the standard room rate.

Please make note of Kalahari's Cancellation Policies: Kalahari will waive the $25 processing fee on cancellations made 72 hours or more prior to arrival. Kalahari will waive the forfeiture of the entire deposit on cancellations made within 72 hours prior to arrival if they are due to a death of an immediate family member, illness, weather, or for state survey completion.

Kalahari does not accept completed Letters of Authorization forms, Tax Exemption forms, nor Purchase Orders at the hotel check-in. They have a dedicated team that approves these forms to ensure validity prior to check-in. These forms should be submitted no later than 7 days in advance to dellscallcenterfax@kalahariresorts.com or 608-254-6116. They highly suggest that you submit these forms a minimum of two weeks prior to hotel check in so their team can process them in a timely manner. Failure to follow this procedure may result in full room and tax charges to you on your personal cards since the front desk will not accept these forms at check-in. If you have any questions please review their policies in full detail. (<https://www.kalahariresorts.com/wisconsin/help/faq/>).

Workforce Wake-Up Call: It's Time to Operationalize Turnover

As pensions have disappeared, the long-term employee commitment has shifted to a shorter-term stay. While organizations can reduce employee turnover, they cannot eliminate it, which means staffing challenges caused by employee turnover are here to stay. Due to this new reality, it's time for leaders to rethink staffing stability and set realistic goals, budgets, and business models around unavoidable turnover. The best way to increase employee retention moving forward is to plan for and adjust current operations to better manage forecasted levels of employee turnover. This reduces the shock and business disruption from staff departures. In this workshop, a Magnet Culture Workforce Thought Leader will explore strategies for operationalizing turnover so your organization can become a well-oiled machine that maximizes the time you have with each new employee to meet your company's goals and customer expectations.

Learner Objectives:

- Explore the latest workforce developments as unveiled in this "State of the Workforce" address.
- Discuss how you can increase operational efficiency by planning and implementing strategies to reduce and embrace turnover.
- List ways to keep people longer, enhance productivity, and improve profitability.

Learner Level: Intermediate

Presenter: Carrie Murphy, Retention Strategist, Magnet Cultures, Memphis, IN

Important Note Regarding Registration for the Pre-conference Workshops: Registration for the pre-conference workshops is not included in your conference registration fee. There is a per person fee ($35 for members/subscribers; $70 for non-members if you register by April 10, 2024) for any of the pre-conference workshops. There is a separate (per person) registration fee for the 2024 Spring Conference.

ICD-10, MDS and PDPM: Tips to Ignite Success

This session is designed to spark your interest and ignite your passion for PDPM and ICD-10 coding. In this interactive session, we will explore the requirements for ICD-10 coding. We will delve into the specifics of the ICD-10 and MDS coding to ensure maximum reimbursement. We will review the PDPM categories and qualifiers of PT/OT, SLP, NTA and nursing components (extensive services, special care high, special low, and clinically complex) and necessary documentation to support MDS coding.

Learner Objectives:

- Discuss how to accurately determine primary diagnoses and sequence additional diagnoses in order to assign correct codes that maximize reimbursement.
- Discuss how to correctly use and assign aftercare codes, sequelae codes, sepsis codes, M-codes, and A-codes.
- Outline PDPM categories and qualifiers and analyze their impact on revenue.
- Identify opportunities for coding the MDS to ensure maximum reimbursement and accurate coding through completion of case studies.

Navigating Ethical Dilemmas in Long-Term Care: Principles in Practice

Through this interactive discussion, we will dive deep into the ethical dilemmas and considerations that arise in long-term care settings. As we explore foundational ethics and principles, we will engage in thoughtful dialogue around real-world scenarios involving resident autonomy, quality of life, resource allocation, and other complex issues. Come with your questions and ethical situations. Our goal is to gain greater understanding and clarity around navigating these challenges with wisdom and compassion.

Learner Objectives:

- Analyze real-world ethical dilemmas in long-term care settings through the lens of resident self-determination, staff capacity, and best practices.
- Evaluate approaches for balancing competing priorities and obligations when faced with ethical challenges related to resident autonomy, quality of life, resource allocation, and other complex issues.
- Develop strategies for addressing ethical gray areas in long-term care with wisdom, nuance, and compassion.

Keynote The Upside

The human kindness shared in times of crisis has Keynoter Jack Stahlmann examining the common thread that creates positivity during hardship. In recent years when humanity was maybe feeling its worst, LeadingAge Wisconsin members delivered their best. But the fallout of Covid-ian times created other problems, such as staffing shortages, burnout, and an increasing creep of a workplace staple: Negativity. In this keynote, Jack provides the tools to combat the Debbie or Donnie Downers by honing the upside.

Learner Objectives:

- Examine the science behind Hans Rosling's Negativity Theory, discuss why some people are more negative than others, and list strategies for navigating those workplace fun killers.
- Implement in your life the "yes and" state of mind that drives productivity and discuss how you will take the word "no" out of your vocabulary to create more productive conversations.
- Hone your consistency by going streaking (don't worry, all clothes will be staying on) and develop a plan for mastering the art of going on winning streaks.

Family Care and Quality Care: Exploring the Possibilities of Collaboration

In this interactive one-on-one discussion, we will focus on the realities and practicalities of Family Care rates in relation to assisted living provider costs as we work to provide quality care for the residents. We will explore issues such as why caregiver wages lag behind CNAs despite comparable work and whether managed care rates can be negotiated to better reflect the actual cost of providing care for residents with increasing care needs. By sharing experiences on residents' changing conditions and care needs, functional screens, rates, and transitions from private pay, we'll explore various perspectives that reflect our vital role in working together to enable residents to age in place.

Learner Objectives:

- Discuss the complexities of establishing managed care rates in relation to the costs of providing quality care for residents with increasing needs.
- Discuss various perspectives on residents' changing care needs and the impacts on staffing, wages, costs, rates, and financial sustainability – for providers and for managed care organizations.
- Explore approaches for enabling residents to age in place through collaboration and innovation in service delivery and funding models.

What to Wear

LeadingAge Wisconsin encourages you to dress casually for all convention activities. The Kalahari does its best to provide a comfortable climate for our conference; however, everyone responds differently to climate-controlled environments, and sometimes it is warmer or cooler than you prefer. We hope you will take this into consideration when preparing for this conference and wear clothing that can be layered.

The Intangible It

The Intangible It examines the “it” quality movie stars possess that you can’t quite put your finger on... or can you? By sharing humorous tales of his Tinseltown adventures, Jack breaks down the “it” factor that makes certain actors and actresses superstars and explores how to use those lessons to become a star in the aging services profession.

Learner Objectives:

- Define “The Gift” and discuss how to channel your inner-Clooney to make everyone you encounter feel important.
- Analyze “The Shift” and identify the secret that has given Tom Hanks such career longevity.
- Examine “The Connect” and list ways you can be more memorable to anyone you meet.

Managing Tenant Acuity in the Resident Care Apartment Complex Setting

Have you been struggling to identify effective ways to manage the varying acuity levels within the residential care apartment complex (RCAC) at which you have responsibilities? Preparation and planning to meet the tenants' needs and preferences is an ever changing and evolving process. This one-hour session will provide the participant with reasonable approaches and solutions to incorporate into the planning, delivery, and evaluation of services within the RCAC environment. Courage Ignite!

Learner Objectives:

- Develop strategies to identify gaps within existing systems that affect ability to meet tenant needs when acuity changes.
- Integrate evidence-based practices into RCAC workflows that elevate adaptability to practices in the RCAC environment to meet tenant changing needs.
- Verbalize value in leveraging key stakeholder engagement throughout a tenant's stay in the RCAC setting.

Your Money. Your Mission.

Money is emotional. It can wreak havoc on life if you aren't willing to take control of the relationship and conversation(s) within your financial household. Whether you are an educator, a business owner, or simply an individual looking to change the narrative of how we associate with money, this session will cover applicable ideas to create a positive relationship with money for you and/or your employees. Through real conversation, we have identified ways to help individuals own their financial journey and build out a financial literacy curriculum that is real, raw, and rewarding. Join us in discussing what that journey looks like and take part in the opportunity to help this generation and the next develop healthy money habits.

Learner Objectives:

- Define "Financial Wellness."
- Outline the attributes of a healthy money relationship.
- Develop a plan for creating a financial literacy curriculum that can be deployed in your home or workplace.

Senior Living Update, Challenges, and Reimbursement Opportunities

There continue to be many developments happening within senior living that are affecting the day-to-day operations and long-term strategies of organizations. With workforce challenges, slow recovery of census, industry consolidations, and changing regulations, there are many considerations for executives to think about that will impact the direction of their organizations. In addition to ever increasing resident assessment scrutiny, greater focus on staffing, quality metrics, and reimbursement challenges at the national and local levels, leaders have even more to consider while evaluating their organization's financial performance. This session will focus on recent events impacting providers. In addition to giving a high-level overview, the discussion will address federal and state reimbursement considerations, including Wisconsin's Medicaid and Medicare reimbursement using the Patient-Driven Payment Model (PDPM). Participants also will learn how to minimize risk or maximize value through evaluating operational Key Performance Indicators (KPIs).

Learner Objectives:

- Recognize current developments within the senior services and supports environment.
- Analyze the drivers within clinical documentation that impact reimbursement at the state and federal levels.
- Identify operational outliers that can translate into financial opportunities.

How to Have Your Next Difficult Conversation Part 1: Guiding Principle and Frameworks

Conflicts among staff members can disrupt productivity, damage morale, and hinder organizational success. This session offers a strategic approach to managing conflicts by leveraging effective conversational skills. Designed for employers, managers, and team leaders, this session will enhance your conversational skills, help you cultivate stronger relationships with your teams, and promote a culture of trust, growth, and development within your organizations.

Learner Objectives:

- Analyze what really drives human behaviors and emotions and discuss how to use that for increased trust and performance at work.
- Identify specific strategies to build connection, depending on the level of activation, defensiveness, or apathy, in any conversation.
- Discuss what you can do to improve your communication skills and boost your confidence when handling difficult conversations.

Courage Ignited: Resident-directed Care Planning in the CBRF Setting

One of the biggest challenges in the community-based residential facility (CBRF) setting is developing a truly resident-centered, resident-directed Individual Service Plan (ISP). We want our residents to “live their best life,” including days filled with opportunities and choices. Yet we also need to acknowledge and support the things necessary to promote their health and well-being. Ideally, these concepts align, but what if they don’t? How do we strike that delicate balance? In this interactive session, we will explore techniques to ensure that we develop ISPs which reflect our residents’ goals and choices. We will discuss tips for educating and guiding our residents with regards to health needs, while still respecting their autonomy.

Learner Objectives:

- Identify interview techniques designed to encourage the resident to verbalize their goals and priorities.
- Discuss how to educate residents regarding health and care needs.
- Analyze the role of the family or guardian in developing the ISP, particularly if the family’s goals/choices do not align with the resident’s goals.
- List the key components of a resident-directed ISP.

The Key Components of a Premier Workplace Culture

A premier workplace culture is defined by several key components, including a strong sense of purpose, open communication, mutual trust and respect, opportunities for growth and development, and a supportive work-life balance. When these components are in place, employees feel valued, motivated, and empowered to do their best work.

Learner Objectives:

- Assess your current employee engagement programs and explore how the results of your assessment will impact your planning for the future.
- Identify key employee engagement programs to implement from pre-hire through the employee life cycle with budget considerations.
- Discuss how you can leverage technology to empower employee engagement and drive culture.

AI and Aging: Navigating Tomorrow's Senior Care with Tech and Heart

Join us for a deep dive into artificial intelligence (AI) applications in senior care. This session will work to demystify the topic and provide a high level education on what AI actually is and how it is developed. We then will review real-world examples of AI in long-term care and assisted living, analyzing benefits and challenges. Attendees will gain insights into implementing AI ethically to enhance resident care and empower staff. The session equips professionals to evaluate if and how AI could improve their organization's operations and care delivery. Participants will leave with ideas to pilot AI initiatives attuned to their organization's needs.

Learner Objectives:

- Identify the various types of AI and discuss what AI actually looks like in the world today.
- Outline actual provider case studies as to how AI already has been used in the senior care field successfully.
- Discuss the challenges and barriers that exist around AI today.
- Analyze the role of AI in reducing redundant tasks and freeing up caregiver time.
- Develop two ideas to incorporate AI into your organization to improve resident care and business operations.

Understanding Wisconsin's Continuum of Services from a Clinical Perspective

The level of nursing and clinical care permitted in Wisconsin long-term care facilities depends on the type: independent living (IL), residential care apartment complexes (RCACs), community-based residential facilities (CBRFs), or skilled nursing facilities (SNFs). The level of care increases from ILs to SNFs along with more stringent regulation and licensing requirements for staffing, services, and facility standards. Join us for an in-depth look at the level of nursing/clinical services allowed at each level. Learn how to identify when resident acuity is too high for a given setting and when the nursing hours exceed regulatory limits.

Learner Objectives:

- Distinguish between the care services allowed in independent living, residential care apartment complexes, community-based residential facilities, and skilled nursing facilities.
- Outline how to identify when a resident's acuity level is too high for a given setting.
- Establish a procedure for determining when the nursing hours at a facility exceed regulatory limits.

Risk Insights during a Transaction: Mergers, Acquisitions, Divestments, & Beyond

This session will cover best practices when considering major operational changes like acquiring a new facility, partnering with a management company, executing an agreement with a REIT, or divesting a service line. Topics will include due diligence, ensuring quality of care and regulatory compliance, culture impact and staff retention, information technology and HIPAA considerations, and insurance policy implications. The goal is to provide guidance on risk factors and continuity of care when navigating major organizational transactions.

Learner Objectives:

- List key risk areas during a transaction.
- Analyze the legal perspective of a change in ownership (CHOW).
- Outline solutions to implement within your community before/during/after a transaction.

The Courage to Care through Religion, Spirituality, and Prayer

What if preventing readmissions included not only scheduling a post discharge follow up appointment with a resident’s primary care provider but also a visit from the resident’s pastor, priest, or imam? This presentation offers participants the opportunity to explore the current understanding of religion as a social determinant of health. It offers insights into and evidence of how religion and spirituality serve as a deterrent to social isolation, a way to foster and reinforce resilience in older adults, and an approach to increase resident satisfaction. The presenter will introduce participants to research exploring the types of religious and spiritual care provided in post-acute and long-term care settings in the United States and Canada. Participants will be invited to see participation in on-going spiritual and religious care research as demonstrating an organization’s commitment to the Baldrige core value of patient/person focused excellence. Join in an interactive discussion of current religious and spiritual practices and practice improvements you would like to see.

Learner Objectives:

- Analyze the protective effect of religious participation.
- List the benefits of spiritual care.
- Discuss the current research into religious and spiritual care in Wisconsin.

Ignite the Spark To Grow Your Clinical Team

In today's challenging job market, there is value in supporting growth within your clinical team. One avenue to facilitate this growth is a career lattice. A career lattice is a career progression pathway that allows for vertical, horizontal, and diagonal movement. When your employees can go where their strengths and interests lie, they have more control over their own career progression, thus setting them up for success.

Learner Objectives:

- Compare and contrast the career ladder and the career lattice.
- Define the value of harnessing the employee's strengths and interests to create successful transitions within the organization.
- Analyze how to implement a career lattice model.

Having the Courage to Affiliate

A rapidly changing operating and regulatory environment has made it more important than ever for CEOs and the Board of Directors to regularly assess their organization's financial and operational performance to identify potential issues and address them proactively. These changes may include financial struggles, declining occupancy rates, and difficulty recruiting and retaining staff. For some organizations, the changes may indicate a need to explore a sale or affiliation with another organization. This session will explore how to have the courage to make an informed assessment and the process of affiliation.

Learner Objectives:

- Identify key indicators of financial and operational performance that may signal the need to explore a sale or affiliation with another organization.
- Evaluate the potential benefits and drawbacks of a sale or affiliation for your organization, considering factors such as timing, regulatory environment, and competition.
- Develop a plan for making an informed assessment of your organization's financial and operational performance, including strategies for addressing potential issues proactively and seeking the advice of legal and financial experts.

Innovative Staffing Solutions

This session will focus on the innovative work of the Notre Dame Migrant Impact Network and its Innovation Partner Workforce Hope. Research strongly indicates that new sources of both skilled and unskilled workers are needed for our healthcare system, mostly caused by macro-demographic shifts in the population of the United States. The Notre Dame network currently has a focus on refugee and migrant job placement with employers in the healthcare sector, including English speaking nurses from new source countries like Kenya, and working to place the 125,000 Ukrainian refugees approved for permanent asylum in the United States.

Learner Objectives:

- Analyze the current and future landscape of sourcing skilled clinical positions from abroad.
- Discuss sourcing English speaking nurses at scale from Kenya on H1B visas.
- Discuss sourcing Ukrainian refugees for CNA and unskilled positions as permanent employees.

GUIDE: Medicare's Model for Transforming the Senior Living Approach to Memory Care

Medicare is rolling out a dementia-focused program for the first time, and senior living residents qualify. The program is called GUIDE: Guiding an Improved Dementia Experience. In this program, a medical practice administers cognitive assessments, special care plans, and dementia services to patients with cognitive impairment. The program adds Medicare-funded patient care staff to the senior living community as well. A senior living community with patients under the GUIDE program can expect to receive extensive personal care and caregiver (family) training and support. GUIDE provides a platform for the senior living community to support and engage the caregiver of the senior living with dementia, as there are several prescribed training and support regimens mandated by GUIDE.

Learner Objectives:

- Discuss how Medicare is supporting a new way of delivering care to those with cognitive impairment.
- Outline how senior living operators can mobilize GUIDE in their communities to transform the care experience for residents, families, and community care staff.
- Analyze specific benefits of the GUIDE program including a funding stream for a clinical model and respite care.

Strategies for Bravely Facing Medicare Advantage

With 33 million enrollees, Medicare Advantage (MA) cannot be ignored nor is it going away. This session will focus on the basics of the MA program: trends in MA and why beneficiaries chose it, what is important to the MA plans, tools and strategies to help you approach your next contract discussion, and other considerations for participating in MA.

Learner Objectives:

- Discuss the aspects of MA that make it attractive to the Medicare beneficiary and identify who the market players are.
- Outline the decision points and considerations in contracting with managed care plans.
- List LeadingAge tools and resources available to help members as they work with managed care plans.

Learner Level: Intermediate

Presenter: Nicole O. Fallon, Vice President, Integrated Services & Managed Care, LeadingAge, Washington, D.C.

Regulators, Providers and Advocates: Building Partnerships for Quality Care (Part 1)

Back by popular demand, this will be another interactive, candid discussion between a long-term care provider and Ann Angell, Director of the Bureau of Nursing Home Resident Care. As we continue to explore the mutual missions, realities, and practicalities of the responsibilities of both surveyors and providers, we will look at real-world examples of interactions between these two groups. Our goal is to better understand each other's points of view and how they shape survey outcomes and resident successes. We will discuss areas where we tend to disagree as well as opportunities for collaboration, with the aim of building trust and common ground even when we must sometimes agree to disagree. Throughout the discussion, we will keep our focus on best serving the interests and well-being of residents. (This discussion will continue in Session F32)

Learner Objectives:

- Discuss real-world examples of interactions between providers and regulators to gain mutual understanding.
- Explore how different points of view shape survey outcomes with the goal of building trust and common ground.
- List strategies to continue enhancing collaboration between providers and regulators.
- Discuss how strengthened teamwork can ensure the highest quality of care, satisfaction, and service for residents.

Streamline Your Finances (Part 1)

Effective documentation of financial processes and workflow is crucial for long-term care organizations to maintain compliance, optimize operations, and enable continuity of care. In this educational session, we will discuss best practices for documenting the end-to-end financial workflow, including accounts payable, accounts receivable, payroll, budgeting, resident trust funds, and cost reporting. Clear documentation facilitates training of new staff, ensures adherence to policies and procedures, and aids in auditing and quality control. We will provide guidelines for documenting key processes, controls, and risks at each stage of the financial workflow. Our goal is that participants will learn how to create standard operating procedures, process maps, risk matrices, and other tools to fully describe their organization's financial operations. Come with your examples and ideas and be prepared to engage in interactive discussions. Proper documentation promotes consistency, accountability, and sustainability of operations over time, through staff transitions and organizational changes. We will work together so that participants leave equipped to evaluate their existing documentation practices and develop an action plan for improvement. (This discussion will continue in Session F33)

Learner Objectives:

- Identify key financial processes and workflows that require documentation.
- Develop documentation such as process maps, flowcharts, written procedures, and checklists to standardize financial processes using clear and simple language.
- Implement a documentation maintenance system to regularly review and update materials as regulations and workflows evolve.

Leadership On Purpose (Part 1)

Do you find yourself in situations with employees and colleagues where you aren't quite sure how you got there? Do you sometimes wonder why you got into leadership or perhaps think, "It can't be this difficult"? Are you leading on purpose and with intention? Attend this workshop and give yourself the gift of time to reflect and consider ways to enhance your leadership effectiveness. (This discussion will continue in Session F34)

Learner Objectives:

- Analyze the importance of mindset, setting expectations, and holding others accountable for their choices.
- Discuss best practices related to leading on purpose.
- Identify how you can persevere and reignite the courageous leader within you.

Igniting Engagement: Supporting Staff in Applying Dementia Skills (Part 1)

We have the foundation. We have the tools. We know what needs to be done to provide skilled care to people living with dementia. What is the missing link when helping staff apply these tools in their daily work? In this interactive workshop, we will explore the dementia experience, practice the skills, and learn the ways to better support staff in utilizing these tools. This presentation is highly influenced by the Positive Approach to Care model. (This discussion will continue in Session F35)

Learner Objectives:

- Analyze the brain, its functions, and how people living with brain change experience the world around them.
- Demonstrate the skills to approach and communicate with people living with dementia.
- Discuss how to effectively support staff in applying these skills.

Changing Medicare Advantage Policy and How Providers Can Influence It

Medicare Advantage (MA) is here to stay, but policymakers are beginning to recognize that some changes are needed. Come learn about the recent MA rules and legislation covering prior authorizations, coverage determinations, information sharing, and the use of artificial intelligence. We will provide the latest information from CMS about how the rules apply in post-acute care, the LeadingAge MA advocacy efforts, and how we can work together to ensure the plans comply with the rules.

Learner Objectives:

- Outline LeadingAge Congressional and regulatory priorities related to Medicare Advantage and the latest actions policymakers have taken to address them.
- Analyze the new MA rules impacting prior authorizations, coverage determinations, and the use of artificial intelligence, along with any new guidance from CMS on how plans should apply these rules in post-acute care settings and the goals CMS is trying to achieve.
- Discuss the role LeadingAge members can play in ensuring the new rules are enforced and that beneficiaries get the care they need.
